

Just a Little of This & That

By W. E. W.

We're Proud of Her
Upland is proud of Priscilla Key, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin B. Key, who reside on West Twenty-fourth Street. Priscilla and her mother were spending their vacation at Newport Beach and as Priscilla had learned to swim at Chaffey plunge she was enjoying a delightful time bathing in the ocean. Lester Jackson, 13-year-old Riverside boy, hadn't learned all the secrets of swimming and when he slipped from a plank on which he was riding and fell into deep water he lost his head and came near drowning. Just as he started down for the third time Priscilla grabbed him by the back of the neck and brought him safely to shallow water. Priscilla is 13 years old and weighs 78 pounds, while Lester is fully head and shoulders above her in size. In a few days Priscilla will probably receive a medal, as affidavits are being procured to be sent to the proper authorities awarding medals to boys and girls as well as men and women who prove themselves built of that sterner stuff that saves a human being from death.

Not Without Honor

"A prophet is without honor in his own country," was once aptly said, but Elmer L. Howell, defeated for Assemblyman by Isaac Jones from this district, now knows that in China he has a vast army of friends. Friends in your own home town is about all a man gets in this life, no matter how big a life insurance policy he leaves for his widow and children, or how much in material things he gathers together.

In the race for Assembly Elmer L. Howell lost, yet he won, for down a the Chino district Mr. Jones received 78 votes and Mr. Howell received 241. Another feature of the race for the Assembly was the regard that each contestant had for the other, and after the votes decided the issue Mr. Jones proved a graceful winner and Mr. Howell proved a good loser.

Mr. Howell, in expressing his appreciation, stated:

This morning I realize that I have been beaten for the Republican nomination for assemblyman from the fifty-seventh district, but the sting of defeat is more than removed by the enjoyment of the fact that the people of the Chino community rolled up such a wonderful vote for me. The total vote of the six Chino precincts and Rincon gave seventy-eight for Mr. Jones and two hundred and forty-one for Howell, a more than three-to-one victory.

Probably the most remarkable precinct in the whole county was Chino number four, where my vote totaled sixty and my good friends allowed Mr. Jones only three. Just how I shall ever be able to repay all the good people of this community for their splendid support at this election is hard to figure.

Mr. Jones has beaten me in one of the cleanest fights ever made. I am exceedingly proud to have been an opponent of his and can assure him of the continuation of our friendship, which has never been interrupted for one instant by the fact that we were opposed in this political battle. A clean fight stands out particularly strong in this campaign, where the dirtiest kind of tactics have been employed by some parties.

Whatever the future may have in store, I shall appreciate and treasure the great expression made by the people of Chino at this election. Mere thanks cannot express the feeling created by the splendid Chino vote. I can truly say I am far happier in the result than I would have been if I had won the election but lost my home precincts or carried them by a small majority which meant practically nothing.

SATURDAY SEPT. 6 CHOSEN AS DATE FOR LAST TRIP

FIRST CAR TO RUN TO CAMP BALDY TO TRY
A COME BACK

One-Cylinder 1908 Reo to Negotiate Grades to Mountain Village. A Blare of Trumpets and Tramping of Horses' Feet in Grand Parade.

Plans are today complete for the last trip of "King Tut's Carriage" up San Antonio Canyon to Camp Baldy and Saturday, September 6th has been selected as the date.

At 1:30 p. m., Lyman Clark and his famous one cylinder Reo of 1908 vintage is to leave Creighton's Supply station at the corner of C street and Second avenue, accompanied by friends who will give Mr. Clark assistance if the sixteen-year-old gas eater develops signs of laying down in the road for a rest.

This car was the first to negotiate the grades to Camp Baldy in 1908 and was used on several occasions to carry Sunday morning papers to those spending their vacation days in the mountains.

On the arrival of the Reo at the point where the Camp Baldy road enters San Bernardino County the car will be halted until 4 o'clock. This point is about quarter of a mile below Camp Baldy Hotel and here a most interesting parade will be formed. Word from Sheriff Walter Shay of San Bernardino county and from Sheriff Traeger of Los Angeles County is to the effect that they will be present. T. K. Vernon who is generalissimo of the big event issued the sheriffs of the two counties an invitation and both of them stated they would be present if possible.

The Camp Baldy Mountain Village band is to provide the music for the parade while county motorcycle officers will guide the way followed by mountain rangers and campers on horseback. As there are many saddle horses in the neighborhood of Camp Baldy all the owners of horses have been invited to enter the parade.

On arrival at the camp the crowd is to enjoy dinner at Camp Baldy Hotel and during the evening dancing will be the main entertainment.

Roy Creighton of Creighton's Auto Supply station is to supply a tank of Ventura gasoline which will probably be the last gas the old car will ever eat as it is going to its last resting place in the mountain fastness where it loved to ramble in its youth. Lyman Clark states that he would like to equip it with Hood Tires but is unable to get the old ones off. One of the old tires was purchased in November 1916, from the Waterman Garage while another was bought at the Mohl Hardware in 1916 when the hardware handled tires.

Funeral services for Mr. Barnett were held today at 3 o'clock at Draper's Upland chapel. Burial will be made in Bellevue Cemetery, Ontario.

MOUNTAIN FIRE IS SWEEPING WEST & NORTH--FIGHT TO THE FINISH

HUNDREDS OF MEN BEING RECRUITED FOR FIRE
FIGHTING DUTY

Members of Upland Fire Department Spend Vacation Fighting Blaze. Carelessness of Campers is Alarming.

As the result of two Japs preparing their Sunday meal in San Gabriel Canyon over a campfire, losing control of the fire and instead of calling for help, running for cover, hundreds of men are today fighting one of the worst fires of the season to the west and north of the San Gabriel Canyon. The two Japs are in jail at Azusa, while hundreds of men are being recruited to fill the places of those who must rest from the fight against the spreading flames.

Members of Upland's fire department, who were enjoying their annual outing in San Gabriel Canyon, went into action at three o'clock Sunday afternoon, and fought the fire until seven o'clock next morning, when they were relieved. En route home a land slide came near burying the machines of Geo. Bunker and E. R. Swan, but quick action on the part of drivers cleared the oncoming tons of dirt which blocked the canyon road for hours.

Camp Rincon, a canyon resort, including a hotel and about 20 smaller buildings, directly in the path of the flames, and apparently doomed at 6 o'clock last night, was saved by the Herculean efforts of hundreds of fire-fighters. For a time the entire resort was practically encircled by the roaring fire.

Should the flames that have already burned over twenty-five square miles, jump the west and north fork of the San Gabriel near Camp Rincon, as threatened, it will mean one of the biggest forest fires in the history of Southern California. It was said. The fire would have a clear sweep across miles of rugged mountain country. Old-time residents in the district declared last night that once the flames jump the fork of the river the country will be laid waste as far north as the Mojave desert.

Hundreds of fire-fighters entering the fire zone from Azusa were menaced by numerous landslides along the narrow San Gabriel Canyon road to Camp Rincon. Small stones, loosened by the flames, starting to roll down the steep mountain sides, loosened larger boulders that in turn started small avalanches that swept down, in some instances entirely blocking the road.

Lieut. C. P. Kane of Ross Field and fifty soldiers, who had been fighting the flames, narrowly escaped with their lives yesterday afternoon when the sweep of fire closed in about them.

Dropping the shovels and firefighting equipment, the soldiers were forced to wrap their coats over their heads and dash through a wall of swirling smoke and flame to escape.

Among the fire-fighters who suffered injuries were Ranger Mill Newman, who was slightly burned, and Assistant Supervisor Lackey, who was struck on the head with a boulder.

With Supervisor Charlton's fire-fighters, County Forester Flint-ham has joined 400 volunteers from Monrovia, Glendora, Azusa, and neighboring towns to fight the blaze. All available firefighting equipment of Los Angeles County has been rushed to the scene.

Assistant Federal Supervisor L. W. Spalding came out of the fire zone late yesterday afternoon with a score of exhausted fire-fighters, six of whom had suffered burns. One was injured by a falling boulder.

Fire fighters from Monrovia and Sierra Madre were making valiant efforts last night to check the flames before they reached Devil's Canyon and Chino Canyon, where Camp West Fork is located.

Several hundred acres of land was laid waste by the blaze when it swept over Iron Mountain. It was checked early yesterday morning when it reached a point directly north of Monrovia, where Present Indications Are That Roy O. Diehl is Visiting His Mother in Arizona. Lost One Seen at Victorville.

Instead of casting himself to the sharks, Roy O. Diehl took no chances of meeting the bottom of the sea, and started for the mountain tops, and is evidently by this time some place in Arizona, where it is much dryer than it is here.

Diehl left a note to his wife that she had put him down and out and that she would find his body in Balboa Bay, where he would cast himself to the sharks. A trip post haste was made to Balboa to check the sharks out of a meal, but they were unable to locate said meal.

Travelers to Camp Cajon and Victorville stated they had met Diehl on the road, and evidently he is on his way to his mother's home in Arizona. Diehl has worked for the Waterman Garage for many months and his peculiar action is unaccounted for, there having been no trouble either at home or at the garage where he worked.

It was reported today that Diehl's wife, who was left with their three-months-old infant, had telephoned her husband's mother in Arizona and had been admonished not to worry, as Diehl's act would be explained in a few days, after which the elder woman was reported to have hung up the phone.

Geo. Beard and School Mate Travel from Davis to Ogden, Utah, Then Wire Home for Money. Telegram Finally Answered With Coin.

Geo. Beard, elder son of Mrs. Leslie Strawn, who has been a student at Davis is now taking up advanced study at Fort Collins, Colorado. That announcement is not exactly unusual, but the trip from Davis to Fort Collins made by Beard and a boy friend is decidedly different.

Although both boys had money in the bank, they decided to save their money, ship their good clothes by express and hobo it from Davis, California to Fort Collins, Colorado. The first day things broke their way but the days following weren't so good and by the time the boys had reached Ogden, Utah, they had all the tramping ideas thoroughly out of their system.

Beard telegraphed to his mother here for money, but Mr. and Mrs. Strawn figured it was the old, old gag of some smooth crook endeavoring to work the telegram method for money. At first they decided to not send the money, but finally framed a telegram with questions which no one could answer but their son. He answered, the questions in a reply telegram and they forwarded the money.

A letter from the boy told of his experience enroute from Davis to Ogden which were decidedly interesting but evidently not particularly enjoyable.

SEVENTH ANNUAL PARAMOUNT WEEK AT THE COLONIAL

THE FIGHTING COWARD, FOR WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY NIGHTS

Third Big Event of the Week "Tiger Love," Friday and Saturday Nights. Estelle Taylor and Tony Moreno Carry Leading Roles.

Seventh Annual Paramount Week opened at the Colonial Sunday night with Walter Heirs in "Fair Week." "Fair Week" proved a busy one for Heirs, for from hotel clerk to trombone player in the band he was kept constantly on the jump.

The second play of Paramount Week at the Colonial is "The Fighting Coward," which is the main show for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights. The picture was made by James Cruze, who produced "The Covered Wagon," and is adapted from Booth Tarkington's latest stage comedy, "Magnolia," one of the outstanding hits on Broadway last season.

The third big event of the week is "Tiger Love," which comes to the Colonial Friday and Saturday night.

"Tiger Love" is a vivid romance of colorful Spain. Estelle Taylor has the role of Marcheta, the beautiful young daughter of a bankrupt aristocrat, while handsome Tony Moreno is cast as the fiery and notorious gypsy bandit, commonly called "The Wildcat," who falls hopelessly in love with her.

In order to rehabilitate the family fortunes, Marcheta's father is forced to consent to the marriage of his daughter to Ramon, the topknot nephew of the Mayor of the town. Marcheta is kidnapped by the Wildcat's lieutenant, but in the proverbial nick of time the Wildcat himself appears and rescues her. Right then and there Cupid gets in some of his fine work and the resulting complications that ensue when the bandit attempts to prevent the marriage of Marcheta and Ramon provide some thrilling moments. At the last moment the discovery is made that—but we won't spoil the picture for you by telling you the surprising climax. Suffice it to say that it is exciting enough to please the most blasé movie fan.

Girls Adopt Plan by Which Embarrassment as to Clothes Will be Eliminated. Chaffey Spirit Shown by Cooperation

Miss Dorothy Smith, president of the Girls' League at Chaffey Union High School this year has asked The News to give space to the following letter to the high school girls of 1924-25 regarding the regulation uniforms voted on by them last year. Miss Smith will be very pleased to answer any questions on the subject, but feels that by the publication of the following information she will reach a large number of girls who want to know just what to wear the first day of school which is September 15th.

To the Girls of Chaffey

As voted on last spring at school, uniforms will be worn at Chaffey this year by high school girls. The uniforms will consist of a navy serge, box pleated skirt, and a white middie with navy collar and cuffs. The seniors will wear black ties, while the other three classes will vote—after school begins—on the color of ties they desire for their class. Uniforms will be worn from the first day of school and will be made compulsory.

Wednesday of each week will be put aside for the wearing of what each individual wishes. However uniforms may be worn on this day as

LOCAL COMMITTEE COMPLETES PLAN FOR DEFENSE DAY

UPLAND DIVISION OF PARADE TO FORM ON SECOND AVE.

Every Organization of the City Asked to Enter Float. To Join Ontario Division at Chaffey Union High School at 1:00 O'clock.

Preparations for Defense Test Day to be held on Friday, September 12th, are being rounded into form and at a committee meeting this morning the men named by Mayor Johnson as the committee named by Commander Frank Nichols of the American Legion, making a joint committee composed of Glenn M. Atwood, chairman; W. E. Westland, H. O. Blohm, C. E. Puckett, Roy Creighton, Frank Nichols, Paul Adams and Don Palmer.

It was the decision of the committee that Upland's portion of the parade should form on Second Avenue and on Ninth Street at 12:30 noon, then proceed to Chaffey Union High School and join the Ontario division there. Each organization of the city is to be asked to enter a float or decorated car carrying some of its members, while decorated cars are especially desired and even cars not decorated will be welcomed.

The day's program calls for a parade of floats and decorated automobiles, which is in charge of a Lions Club committee, headed by H. I. DeBerard; a sports program in the afternoon on the Chaffey High School campus under a Kiwanis Club committee, headed by George S. Felker; a picnic supper on the campus in charge of the American Legion posts of Upland and Ontario, and an evening program under the direction of the Rotary Clubs of Upland and Ontario.

MOTOR OFFICER KRONMEYER INJURED ON TWELFTH STREET

Was Riding Slowly at Time of Injury Might Have Been More Serious. Will be Confined to Home for Some Time

Louis E. Kronmeyer, Jr., city traffic officer, was suffering today at his home, 445 Second Avenue, from a compound fracture of the right shoulder as the result of an accident in which he was thrown from his motorcycle.

In an effort to curb the speed of a large party of motorcyclists passing through the city on the Foot-hill Boulevard en route to Arrowhead Lake, Kronmeyer, in company with Officer Frank J. Freeman, was rounding the corner of Fifth Avenue and Twelfth Street, when the rear wheel of his motorcycle skidded on some mud on the pavement and threw him violently to the roadway.

Kronmeyer was taken by his fellow officer to the office of a local doctor, where the fracture was reduced, but it will be some weeks before he will be able to ride his motorcycle again, it is said. The machine was only slightly damaged and it was due to the fact that the officer was riding slowly at the time that he was not more seriously injured, it is believed.

Change in Valuation to Affect Some Districts. Outside of Cities General Reduction is to Obtain in County

Taxes will be lower this year in Upland, San Bernardino, Ontario and Chino; and higher in Redlands, Colton, Rialto and Needles.

In a large majority of the county districts outside of cities the taxes will be lower. In a few, however, the rates will be materially higher, due to local school conditions.

Final work on the county tax levy was completed yesterday by the Board of Supervisors and the reduction in the county's portion of the levy is a flat 25 cents. The county rate is 2.75 inside cities and $3.00 outside of cities.

Comparative Figures Shown

Increases by some cities and by some school districts, however, wiped out the reduction in that part of the levy over which the supervisors have jurisdiction.

Following is a comparative table of this and last year's county tax rates:

	1924-25	1923-24
Rates by supervisors.....	$1.582	$1.746
Rate by law for schools.....	1.067	1.016
Rate for bond interest.....	.211	.238
Total inside.....	$2.75	$3.00
County library.....	.05	.05
County district roads.....	.45	.45
Total outside.....	$3.25	$3.50

Following is the combined rate in all cities in the county:

	City Tax	Sch'l	City Total	24-25	23-24
San Bernardino.....	$1.88	1.73	2.75	$6.36	$6.58
Redlands.....	1.40	1.59	2.75	5.74	5.96
Ontario (new).....	1.58	2.31	2.75	6.54	7.06
Ontario (old).....	1.61	2.21	2.75	6.57	7.08
Colton.....	1.60	1.98	2.80	6.38	6.13
Upland.....	1.98	2.13	2.80	6.91	7.01
Rialto.....	.95	1.44	2.80	5.19	5.00
Chino.....	1.50	2.31	2.80	6.61	6.98
Needles.....	1.50	2.03	2.80	6.33	6.05

Redlands Rate Changed

Redlands city assesses on a 66 per cent basis instead of 33 per cent used by the county and other cities.

The county rates of Colton, Upland, Rialto, Chino and Needles are $2.80 instead of $2.75 because those cities belong to the county free library system and pay the 5 cent levy for that purpose.

Following is an analysis of the various city rates:

San Bernardino: The City rate is $1.88 as compared to $1.82 last year. The increase is for bond interest. The district school rate is $1.73 as compared with $1.76 last year. The city increased 6 cents, the district school cut 3 cents and the county cut 25 per cent, a net reduction of 22 cents or $6.36 as compared with $6.58. In the newly annexed districts the rate is $6.20.

Redlands: The city rate is $1.40 as compared with $1.60 last year. The assessment, however, has been increased from a 50 per cent basis to 66 per cent basis. On the basis of the county and school rate, the city rate would be $2.80. The district school rate is increased from $1.36 to $1.59, an increase of 23 cents. The county decrease is 25 cents. It is not practicable to figure the net increase due to the change in the assessment basis.

Colton Shows Decrease

Ontario: In the old city the city rate is $1.61 as compared with $1.57. The school district rate is reduced from $2.48 to $2.21 and the county rate from $3.00 to $2.75, a net decrease of 51 cents in the new city and 51.1 cents in the old city. This is the largest decrease in any city in the county. The total rate is $6.54 and $6.57.

Colton: The city rate is decreased from $1.65 to $1.60. The district school rate is increased from $1.43 to $1.98. The county rate is decreased from $3.05 to $2.80. The city cut 5 cents, the school district raised 55 cents and the county cut 25 cents, a net increase of 25 cents. The total rate is $6.38 as compared with $6.13.

Upland Rate is Higher

Upland: The city rate is increased from $1.92 to $1.98. The school rate is increased from $2.04 to $2.13 and the county rate cut from $3.05 to $2.80. The net decrease is 10 cents. The new rate is $6.91 as compared with $7.01.

Rialto: The City rate was last night increased from 75 cents to 95 cents. The school district rate is increased from $1.20 to $1.44. The county rate is decreased from $3.05 to $2.80. The new total rate is $5.19 as compared with $5.00.

Chino: The city rate was cut from $1.70 to $1.50. The school district rate was increased from $2.21 to $2.31. The county rate is cut from $3.05 to $2.80. The new total rate is $6.61 as compared with $6.96.

High School Rates Shown

In the various high school districts the following rates are fixed: Chaffey 75 cents, same as last year; Colton 75 cents, same as last year; San Bernardino 63 cents, a decrease of 11 cents; Redlands 70 cents, a decrease of 3 cents; Victor Valley 61 cents, an increase of 23 cents; Barstow 75 cents, same as last year; Needles 75 cents, same as last year.

The valuation of the high school districts is as follows: San Bernardino $19,544,315; Barstow $2,589,655; Colton $5,196,855; Chaffey $15,682,585; Chino $3,981,130; Needles $1,098,150; Redlands $10,747,045; Victor Valley $3,894,670.

Valuation of Cities Told

The valuation of incorporated cities is as follows: San Bernardino $11,670,375; Redlands $7,111,350; Ontario $4,690,200; Upland $2,365,775; Colton $1,943,305; Chino $1,127,520; Rialto $818,438; Needles $783,910.

The total county assessment is $66,214,755. Last year the total was $59,003,285.

Statistical information regarding the county's share of the tax rate was prepared for the supervisors by Paul Nichols, chief deputy county auditor.

Following is the district school rate, the total 1924-25 rate (this total includes district school rate and total county rate), and the 1923-24 total rate in the school districts OUTSIDE OF CITIES.

LEGION WILL AID IN SUCCESS OF DEFENSE DAY

John R. Quinn, Californian and national commander of the American Legion, has urged Legion Posts throughout the country and ex-service men individually to aid in the success of National Defense Day on Sept. 12.

In a statement received yesterday by Frank Nichols, commander of Upland Post No. 73, the national commander likens the defense day to a fire drill and urges it as the culmination of the Legion's policy for the past four years.

Commander Quinn's communication follows:

"Four years ago the American Legion with memories of the World War's waste, hardships, confusions and useless sacrifices still fresh, came to the realization that the United States had never had a real military policy. From its foundation onward our country had drifted, always thrown periodically into chaos in emergencies and afterward settling back into the old rut. Untold treasures and unnumbered lives had been the toll of this lack of definite military policy.

Paper Mobilization

"So the Legion undertook to draft a military policy which would conform to our common-sense ideal of adequate preparedness without militarism. For more than a year the thought, the research, the effort and the unflinching work of the legion's best minds were concentrated on drafting such a program. Out of the toil came results; for the first time in its history the American nation had a military policy.

"After four years of continued labor in building the machinery for such a policy the time has come to see whether that policy can be successful in fulfilling its promise of protection. The Secretary of War has proposed, and the President has approved, the holding of a defense test on September 12 to prove whether such a policy will work in case of emergency. It is, in effect, a fire drill to see if the fire escapes will save lives. In other words, it is a mobilization—on paper.

Military Policy

"In our country under such a policy as that for which the Legion is mainly responsible, mobilization can only occur if made by communities. And community action depends on the action of the individuals in the community.

"Hence the success of the defense test or any test depends on no one State, no one community, no one person, but on the citizens in each and every community. In other words, it is up to you.

"Because the American Legion is primarily responsible for the creation of a national military policy, it is up to us to give it our full co-operation. If it is not adequate, let it not be said that it failed because the American Legion did not give its hearty support. As an organization dedicated to the service of our country we should accord this test the effort needed. Though the test comes on Sept. 12, within a few days of our national convention at St. Paul, there is time for every Legionnaire to do his utmost to make this defense test successful."

200 MEN STILL - BATTLE BLAZE

Although well under control on the desert line, the brush fire which broke out Monday near the Connor ranch, on the northern slope of the San Bernardino Mountains, was still burning last night. A strong wind has swept the flames up Saw Pit and Holcomb Canyons.

Two hundred men are battling the fire under the direction of Ranger H. Burbank. Crews of fresh fire-fighters replaced exhausted crews yesterday.

Although disappointed in the expectation that the fire would be extinguished yesterday, Ranger Burbank believes that the fire-fighters will be able today to check the advance of the flames. Difficulty was experienced yesterday morning in the attempt to cut a 200-yard fire-break on the eastern line, the heat of the flames driving the fire-fighters back. No injuries were reported.

What Is Liberty?

GOVERNMENT of the people, for the people, by the people," apparently does not enter into the political ethics of Signor Mussolini. "Liberty," he laid down last year, "is not an end; it is a means. As a means it should be controlled and dominated. The truth or otherwise of this dictum of Signor Mussolini entirely depends upon what he means by "liberty." Liberty to some people means the right to do what they please irrespective of the rights of other people. This is the definition of liberty which appeals to the bootlegger, the burglar, and the Bolshevik, but it is not the form of liberty which will ever retain its hold on the friends of civilization and progress.

The abuse of liberty, it has been said, is far worse than no liberty at all. Some people have had more liberty than they ever bargained for; for example, the bourgeoisie of Russia. For them liberty has meant spoliation and persecution. The great mass of the people of Russia are weary of this kind of liberty; they have had an orgy of it; it has left them weakened and impoverished by its intoxicating effects. They lie in the gutter of wrecked prosperity without sufficient energy to rise.

It was to save Italy from liberty of this description that Mussolini founded the Fascisti. He succeeded. A wavering administration was succeeded by a firm and uncompromising dictatorship. Kerenski tried to do the same thing for Russia at the end of the Czarist regime, but failed because he was not such a strong man as the Italian. But there are those in Italy who are beginning to think that in abandoning constitutional government for a dictatorship they have raised up a political Frankenstein about the future actions of whom there hovers a mist of uncertainty. This has engendered a feeling of insecurity which is bound sooner or later to culminate in a revulsion of public feeling.

According to a large section of the European press, Italy is tottering on the verge of another upheaval. The kidnapping and murder of Signor Matteotti, a leading Socialist, has stirred Italy to her depths. There is nothing to connect Signor Mussolini with this outrage, although the whole affair is being used as a weapon by his enemies. The fact of the matter is that dictatorships are not and never were successful beyond a certain limit. At critical periods in the history of nations, a "strong man" as dictator has been "the savior of his country," but this has not and never will give him the right to impose his will on the people for an indefinite period. Napoleon made a very successful dictator—for a time—and rescued France from the wreckage of the Revolution, but the dictatorship of Napoleon was backed up by a powerful military organization which dominated not only France but the whole of Europe. A dictator must have the country behind him if he is to continue in power, and this Mussolini evidently has not.

Mussolini has also laid down in his political economy that all governments create discontent, and that the only way to prevent this discontent from spreading and becoming a menace to the state is to employ force. In this Mussolini is undoubtedly right; but would it not be well for all apostles of liberty to note just where he is right. One party shouts for liberty and becomes a menace to the state, therefore force must be employed to suppress it. Liberty and force have never been far apart and they are conflicting elements. This conflict will continue until the time comes for the realization of what true liberty means.

It is the desire that justice may be the portion of all that makes for true liberty. Mussolini is only partly right in his definition of the function of liberty. Liberty is not alone the means to an end; it is both the means and the end.—Dearborn Independent.

Right Preparation For School

AS a rule the American people have become accustomed to preparing for any unusual happenings in their everyday lives. They make it a point to look ahead and prepare wisely for their vacations, for Christmas, for the family reunion at Thanksgiving, and for the many other little side issues which change the routine of everyday life.

But there is one thing in which they have not yet learned the full importance and it is one of the most necessary preparations in any family—the preparation of the children for school. This does not mean new dresses and shoes for little Mary and new suits and blouses for the sturdy son, but it does mean a thorough physical over-hauling before the long strenuous days of the winter are started.

No child should be sent to school until the physical condition is absolutely brought as nearly to perfection as possible. Defective eye-sight, adenoids, diseased tonsils, loosened teeth, a stomach and intestinal tract filled with the waste matter from vacation over-indulgence in sweets, tiny toes that are cramped from wrong-fitting shoes, and the many other sources of aches and pains which lower the efficiency of the child just as they would an adult.

Too many people fail to realize the great need for sending the boy or girl to school well-equipped mentally and physically to cope with the lessons and problems which mean just as much to them as the business worries do to their parents. A child who breathes under the handicap of adenoids, one whose system is clogged until he feels dull and stupid, one who does not realize that his faulty vision is responsible for his backwardness—all of these youngsters are conscious that they are not the equal of others in their classroom and the mortification adds to their embarrassment.

The backward children are to be pitied for many times it is through no fault of their own at all. They are too inexperienced to realize that their physical condition affects the mental activity, but their parents should know this and correct any physical defects right now before the fall term of school opens. A child's entire future rests in the hands of its parents—and much to the shame of many of these older people they are not worthy the trust which is imposed in them.

HELPFUL HINTS

When sewing hooks and eyes or snappers on very thin material, try inserting a strip of thin cardboard between outside material and facing. Then you can sew right along quickly without danger of stitches showing through on the outside of seat of fold, as the case may be. This is a great time-saver when working on georgette or chiffon.

Buttonholes are always hard to make in very sheer material. Try this method, which has proved satisfactory: Mark the place and size of buttonholes in the material with a piece of chalk. Have this line hemstitched over and then cut the hemstitching as for picot and work the buttonholes over the picot. This is a neat and easy way to do them and they will not fray out.

To prevent your apron pocket from catching on the door knob or protruding object, rip the pocket down an inch or so on each side, finish with a hem and sew a fastener at the top. Then if the pocket should catch on anything the fastener becomes loose and no tear results.

Within a year the dry navy will be augmented by 20 destroyers, 2 mine sweepers, 223 75-foot cabin boats capable of eighteen knots an hour, and 130 6-foot speed boats.

AGRICULTURE REPORT NOW OFF PRESS

The fourth annual report of the California Department of Agriculture for the period ending December 31, 1923, is just off the press. This report has been necessarily delayed due to many factors, not the least of which was the outbreak of the foot and mouth disease, which occurred about the time the report was being compiled, demanding all the energy of the department. It is being sent to all parties whose names appear on the regular mailing list consisting of over six thousand. Those whose names are not on this list may receive a copy upon request.

There were printed eight thousand copies of the third annual report, which supply was insufficient to meet the demand. Of the fourth annual report there has been printed ten thousand copies. The present contains the report of the director of agriculture, Bureau of Fruit & Vegetable Standardization, Bureau of Plant Quarantine and Pest Control, Bureau of Animal Industry, Division of Chemistry, Division of Weights and Measures and the California Crop Report of 1923. It also contains an index of the Monthly Bulletins published during 1923.

PRESIDENT CONGRATULATED, POSTMASTER GAVE $2,000 CHECK TO BRAVE POSTAL CLERK

President Coolidge congratulated Eugene L. Stack, 23, postal clerk at East Orange, N. J., after Postmaster General Harry S. New (at right), had presented the hero with a $2,000 check and a citation for bravery at the White House. Early in the morning of July 31 young Stack defended eight sacks of valuable mail on the D. L. & W. R. R. platform, at East Orange, when two bandits told him to "stick 'em up". Stack brought just one hand up and that hand held a gun, spitting lead and, for one of the bandits, death. The other fled, leaving his dead companion and Stack, twice wounded by his counter-fire, on the platform.

REUNION AT GANESHA PARK—

Some sixty people enjoyed a merry reunion on Labor Day at Ganesha Park, Pomona, all former residents of Glendale, Arizona, who met for an all-day gathering with a delicious picnic luncheon held at noon. The occasion was founded on the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lehman of Glendale, who have been spending several months in California, and their old neighbors were pleased at the opportunity of seeing them and hearing of their former home town.

Among those from Upland were Bishop and Mrs. C. C. Burkholder and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Burkholder and family, Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Franklin and family, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Eyer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Byer and family, and Miss Ruth Byer, who is at present enjoying leave of absence from her work as missionary in India.

WARREN ATWOOD HONORED—

A very delightful and well planned surprise party was given last Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Atwood, Laurel Avenue, in honor of their son, Warren, by members of the Baraca and Philathea classes of the Methodist Sunday School. Mr. Atwood, Jr., leaves next week for Santa Barbara, where he will enter the state normal school to prepare himself for a manual training teacher, and the party was also a farewell one. Mr. Atwood has been secretary of the Sunday School for the past two years, and regret is felt by all his Upland friends that he will not be here this coming winter to continue the work with them.

After the first merry surprises were over, games were played on the lawn, and later the guests entered the house where, after listening to music, refreshments were served consisting of delicious pumpkin pie and punch.

Miss Lucretia Spies of Ontario was the out-of-town guest, all others being members of the above-named classes.

SOCIETY

SURPRISE PARTY ON MISS EYMANN—

A very delightful surprise party was planned and carried out by the friends of Miss Gertrude Eymann last Friday evening at her home on Washington Boulevard. Mrs. George W. Cassell asked the guests to come dressed as little girls, and the games and diversions of the evening were all carried out as though it was a real "kid" party. The affair proved to be a happy surprise to Miss Eymann and her friends left with her numerous gifts, both useful and otherwise, for this was in the nature of a farewell gathering before Miss Eymann leaves to take up her studies in Pomona College. Those present included Mrs. R. B. Campbell, Jr., Mrs. Frank K. Nichols, Mrs. H. L. Manker, Mrs. G. W. Cassell, Mrs. Owen Davis, Mrs. Marion Grothe, Miss Betty Harn, Miss Grace Adsit, Miss Dorothy Ruth, and Miss Eymann.

DOROTHY SMITH RETURNS FROM MOTOR TRIP—

Miss Dorothy Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Smith of Euclid Avenue, has returned from a motor trip of over two months, during which time she visited six different states. Leaving in June with Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Watenpaugh and their daughter, Ruth, the party drove north and visited Messrs. Howard and Harold Watenpaugh in Oregon, then traveling on to the Yellowstone National Park in Wyoming. Other states visited were Montana, Idaho and Washington, and the entire trip was one of great pleasure. Miss Smith is a senior at Chaffey Union High School this year, and president of the Girls' League, among several other school offices.

WEDDING OF MISS BUFFINGTON—

Miss Elizabeth Buffington, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Buffington of North Euclid Avenue, was married last week to Murray Lee Roberts, well-known attorney of Los Angeles, and the ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's father, Charles Buffington, in the city.

Mrs. Robert has often visited her relatives here and has many Upland friends who will be interested to hear of her marriage. She is a graduate of the University of California, and a member of the Gamma Phi Beta.

The honeymoon is being spent in Washington, D.C., and the young couple will also visit Mr. Robert's people before returning to Los Angeles, where they will make their future home. Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Buffington and Miss Louise Buffington motored into the city to be present at the event.

MR. AND MRS. WIEBE ARRIVE TODAY—
A warm welcome greeted P. J. Wiebe, dean of Beulah College, on his arrival today from Canada with his new wife, formerly Miss Lillian Baker of Notawasaga, Canada.

MR. AND MRS. JACOBS HOSTS TO CARD CLUB—
Members of the H. G. L. 500 Club were guests last night of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Jacobs at their attractive home on North Euclid Avenue, where they met for a delightful evening spent around the card tables.

Baskets of pink roses were used in decoration. At the close of the game Mrs. Earl Head was awarded the prize for high score, while the consolation fell to Mrs. Lon Couch.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess and the pleasant social time which followed was regrettably broken up at a late hour. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cushing, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Humble, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Head, Mr. and Mrs. Lon Couch, and the hosts.

HUNTERS BRING IN LIMIT OF DOVES

Many Upland men celebrated the opening of the dove season by bringing home the limit of birds, and the season promises to be one of the most successful on record. Among those from here were Roy Creighton, Walter Allen, P. G. Peterson, Perry O. Long, and others, all of whom bagged the limit.

Fish and Game Commissioner W. C. Malone stated that as far as he was able to observe there were no infractions of the law.

PILL METHOD GETS RESULT WITH LESS WORK FOR FAT ONE

RUNNING A RACE, KICKING UP YOUR HEELS NOT NECESSARY

No One Loves a Fat Man, Too Fat Women Don't Get By Socially so Druggists Solve Problem of Weight Reducing

"Curves, up to a certain point, charm every member of the male sex. Plumpness, in the eyes of many, is a beauty, but overfatness is an offense—especially in a modern woman. If she be fat she is simply impossible.

The above paragraph taken from an advertising folder need need not cause Upland women and their larger but lesser halves who have passed the "plump" stage to gnash their teeth and tear their hair. In fact it should be heralded as the dawning of a new freedom for people who are frankly fat.

For, according to Upland druggists and the little folders from which the above is quoted, the day of reducing by strenuous exercises through which one works up an enormous appetite, which cannot be satisfied because of the necessary dieting, is past.

No longer must father and mother climb yawningly from bed in the early morning and turn on the family phonograph while they do their daily dose. No longer must little Willie and sister Jane eat sparingly of dry toast and orange juice because their parents have gone on a diet.

No. All these things are past, according to Upland druggists.

The modern method of obese reduction is to stop at the nearest drug store and after looking over the stock select the form in which you prefer your medicine. For, according to the booklet, fatness is a disease, and the medical minds of the world have now solved the problem.

Perhaps father as he climbs into the family flivver to go to his office in the morning finds his "tummy" rubbing against the steering wheel. It may have never bothered him before but this morning it does. So on his way to work he stops at the drug store and purchases a small package of pills. On reaching the office he gets a drink of water and swallows one. After a light luncheon at the corner soda fountain he repeats the process.

And at 5 o'clock when he again enters his gas chariot he is another man. The offending abdomen has withdrawn within itself as it were and the driver can not only sit comfortable behind the wheel but for the first time in many a day he can see his feet as they strike out for the self starter and the clutch pedal.

Case of Mother
But now let us turn to the case of mother. Mother is so socially inclined, and, according to the booklet, a woman with a double chin and thick ankles, is "simply impossible."

Mother has tried the exercise route and the starvation method, but while both proved uncomfortable and caused much mental and physical anguish, neither was successful. Now she reads the booklet again and looks thoughtfully in the mirror.

Tries Reducing Cream
She has made up her mind so she sends little Willie to the drug store for some reducing cream. There are a number of varieties of this on local pharmacy counters, but most of them have the same set of rules. When Willie gets home Mother takes the cream, which in some ways resembles a jar of cold cream that hasn't been churned, and rubs some on her double chin. If there is enough left she may try it on her ankles, for, according to the directions, the cream is guaranteed to reduce any part of the body and to restore that youthful girlish figure.

Or, perhaps Kate, who is 25 and in figure has followed the family style of architecture and has just returned from a summer at the beach, where, despite the fact that she is well browned from the sun and wind, shows indications of having been well fed while on her vacation, decides she will also reduce. But having an aversion to pills, and feeling that perhaps it would be better

RESORT OWNER SHOT IN NECK

Confirming reports that a prominent resort owner had been wounded in a shooting scrape at Big Bear Valley last Sunday, W. C. McMillen, proprietor of the Moon Camp, appeared at the district attorney's office yesterday and swore to a complaint charging W. H. Moore, a truck driver, with assault with a deadly weapon.

Pale and drawn, McMillen told a startling story of miraculously escaping death or even serious injury when he was shot twice through the neck. McMillen wore a surgeon's bandage on his neck.

Argument Has Abrupt Close
The asserted assault occurred near the Moon Camp early Sunday, McMillen said, where he met Moore. An argument, alleged to have been inspired by jealousy, ended abruptly, he said, when Moore quickly drew a revolver and began firing.

Although shot through the neck, McMillen told the prosecutor that he staggered to a cabin and summoned aid. Later, McMillen was brought to the Ramona Hospital, where Dr. H. W. Mills described his wounds as "miracle wounds" in that neither of the two bullets inflicted serious injuries, McMillen said. The bullets passed through McMillen's neck without hitting the jugular vein or the vertebrae.

Witness Is Named
Questioned by Deputy District Attorney Stanley Mussell, the resort owner gave the name of Irma Bartlett as a witness—one who can testify as to events incident to the shooting. Sheriff Walter A. Shay said that he had received information that the attack was prompted by jealousy.

It was later learned that McMillen swore to the complaint after being interviewed at the Hotel Stewart, where he was stopping yesterday, by Deputy Sheriff Jack Brown. The sheriff admitted that he had secretly conducted a probe at the shooting during the past two days, before McMillen was located. Reports were circulated throughout the Big Bear Valley resort district that a resort owner had been seriously injured, if not slain, in a shooting scrape.

PROPERTY ON EAST NINTH STREET SOLD

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Warner have just sold their property on East Ninth Street, consisting of a house and chicken ranch with approximately 900 chickens, to H. A. Wormer, who has come here from South America to make his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Warner have resided here for the past four years and have worked industriously with their flock of chickens, making a success of the business. Since selling their property here they have purchased a house on East D Street, Ontario, and when all final arrangements are completed will move there to make their future home.

ter to reduce all over at once rather than take off a few pounds here and there, Kate visits the druggist.

Bath Powder for Kate
After learning her desires he perhaps recommends a reducer in the form of a bath powder. Kate takes the powder and after dissolving it in a bath tub full of warm water steps in. After 15 minutes of soaking, which is in accordance with the directions, she steps out as slim as her 17-year-old sister who is in her last year of high school.

And, according to the local druggists, such scenes as this are becoming more and more frequent with Upland families. Father, mother, sister and even brother, if tending to portliness can beat nature at its own game overnight. There is a remedy for every form of fatness, without exercise or diet, although the booklet does admit that the fat reducer, no matter what its form, will be more effective if a moderate diet is observed.

Still Some Danger
However, there is still some danger lurking in this instantaneous reduction remedy, despite the fact that the booklet guarantees it to be harmless. For let a man who for many years has been known to his neighbors as "Fat" return late at night as a tall, thin individual who skulks about his home in the darkness seeking an open window through which he may climb to get the door key which he left in his trousers pocket, and he may be taken for a burglar. The moral of this story is Don't shoot a man merely because he is thin. He may be your fat friend of the morning before.

MOTORISTS MUST PAY PERSONAL TAX ON AUTOS

UNLESS PAID CAN'T OBTAIN LICENSE PLATES FOR NEXT YEAR

New Ruling Desired by Convention of State Assessors Held in Napa on September 24th. Adoption is Probable.

Motorists will be required to pay personal property taxes on automobiles before obtaining license plates in 1925, if the legislature approves a proposal of the California County Assessors' Association at the convention of the association in Napa Sept. 24, 25, 27. Striking at the motorists to conspire to escape personal property taxes by securing registration of their cars in "foreign counties," the assessors will adopt drastic measures at the convention, according to Assessor A. E. Allen of San Bernardino, one of the advocates and originators of the proposed act.

Tax Certificates Would Come First
The proposal will require that motorists be forced to obtain certificates, from the various county assessors, stating that their cars have been listed for taxation before registration plates are issued by the state. By this plan all motor cars in the state will be listed for the levying of personal property taxes by the counties.

Under the registration system now in vogue, state registration certificates are issued to motorists without regard of the county taxation issue. Assessors in every county in the state, Mr. Allen declared, experience difficulty in assessing automobiles because of the ingenious methods adopted by owners to escape taxation. One scheme is to register the car at a temporary address and as quickly as the registration is issued, the motorist retires to his permanent address or even to another county. If questioned, he declares his car was taxed in the county from which it was registered.

If the proposal of the assessors is adopted by the state, no registration certificates will be issued until the motorist presents a certificate from the assessor of his county, showing that the car has been listed or entered as a part of his real estate, taxable by the county.

Originally, the assessors requested the distributing of the plates throughout the state as a method of acquiring an accurate check on motorists. This proposal met with vigorous protests from automobile clubs of the state and was rejected.

Under the new plan, the distribution of the plates by automobile clubs, which proved highly efficient this year, will not be interrupted, but the assessors, through the forced listing of the cars, will be provided with a registration of all cars in their respective counties on which personal property taxes are levied annually.

The plan is certain of adoption at the convention Mr. Allen said yesterday, and a committee of assessors will be named to request the legislature to approve the proposal, resulting in all probability in the enactment of the plan before the registration period of 1925.

Who's Who

By MRS. GEO. L. WINTER
Of the Business and Professional Woman's Club of Upland

Miss Grace Adsit
Miss Adsit began her commercial education back in Indiana, when she specialized in stenography and typing during her high school years. Her excellent work there brought her her first position, that of secretary to the principal of the East Chicago grammar schools. Later on she completed a course in secretarial work at the Gregg School of Chicago, a school widely known and rated high in its class.

A few months after graduating she came to Upland to live, and her first work here was a position wherein she divided her time between the First National Bank and the Empire Realty & Insurance Co. As she became familiar with the banking business and as that business had grown so that more help was required, she gave up the other work and accepted a position that is best described perhaps as secretary to the cashier of the bank. She has made a special study of the banking business during the last few years and has also become familiar with the escrow work; she also has entire charge of the safety deposit vault, and last, but not least, she is the "hello" girl in charge of the private telephone system of the bank.

She became a member of our club in the first year of its existence and has always taken an interest in its welfare. She was elected to the office of corresponding secretary at our annual meeting in June.

Miss Dorothy Ruth
Another of our club members is employed at the First National Bank. Miss Ruth lived in Chicago in her early childhood, later coming to Los Angeles, where she graduated from the Franklin High School. As a business life attracted her, she entered the Pomona Business College for special training along that line, making her home in Upland. Her very first position was that of stenographer in the office of the Libby, McNeill & Libby canning plant in Chino. She soon found an opening in Upland, however, and began her work as bookkeeper in the bank where she has been employed for some time.

UPLAND GIRL SCOUT SAVES DROWNING BOY

Priscilla Keyt, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Keyt of this city saved the life of Lester Jackson, Riverside lad, by using her knowledge of girl scout methods, learned during the meetings of the Girl's Reserve held under the direction of Miss Clara L. Bissell and Miss Janet Stone throughout the Chaffey district.

The affair took place last Friday at Newport Beach when young Jackson while floating on a plank in the bay near the municipal camp grounds slipped from the plank into a deep channel, and as he could not swim, his condition was precarious. Priscilla attracted by his cries for help swam out grabbing him by the back of the neck, as taught in approved fashion at Chaffey plunge, brought him safely to shore.

The girl is in Miss Florence Tarleton's scout troop at the Upland Grammar school, and plans have been started to procure for her a medal from the proper authorities.

BUILDING PERMITS

A permit taken out by John Gerry for a 5-room residence for $3,000, and one for the Sierra Vista school house on Campus Avenue for additional rooms to cost $2,500, were among the largest of the August permits given last month by City Clerk E. They say braid trimmings are to be especially good all Winter. Such trimmings certainly help to give a tailored smartness to frocks made at home. Braids of all widths are to be found at the Notion Counter.

It looks like a lustrous season—at least as far as the use of Satin goes. We have this material in soft, supple weaves.

Broadcloth has returned to favor, and makes up into the smartest of street frocks. 52-inch broadcloth in all the favored shades for Autumn.

Now, don't you like the yards and yards of lace ruffling we're using this Fall? The best part of it is that it comes all ready ruffled. Ask for ruffling in the lace department.

Agatha percale is such a fresh, clean-looking fabric. No wonder everyone likes it for house-dresses and aprons. It comes in such good looking patterns, too.

OUT FOR BIG GAME

An immigrant from Ireland was just stepping off the boat to the dock when he saw a fifty-cent piece lying at his feet, and started to stoop to pick it up. Suddenly he straightened again. DEFENSE DAY IS EXPLAINED

In a statement issued today by R. E. Mittelstaedt, adjutant general of California, acting on behalf of Governor Richardson, called the attention of the citizens and communities of the state to the plans of the war department, approved by President Coolidge, setting aside Friday, September 12, as "Defense Test Day."

The statement said: "The war department desires by the checking of defense plans to ascertain the state of national defense and to render an account to congress and the people of the United States as to just what has been accomplished under the provisions of the national defense act."

"The government has outlined the general plans for the observance of the day, leaving to the various states and local communities the initiative in furthering this work and of observing the day of public patriotic demonstrations."

Urge Cities to Cooperate

"The adjutant general earnestly requests every community to fill the ranks of the organizations of the national guard and organized reserves for this day only, with volunteer citizens between the ages of 18 and 45 years and to arrange such programs of patriotic demonstrations as will carry out the spirit of the day and bring home to every citizen the fact that national defense is an interest vitally affecting us all and that this defense does not become a purely military matter, in our country, until an actual emergency exists."

"He feels sure that California will respond loyally to this call and make September 12 a day of self-forgetfulness and a day devoted to thoughts of unselfish Americanism and of our country's security."

Postmaster L. N. Kirk today made the statement that the receipts at the Upland postoffice for August, 1924, were 40 per cent over August, 1923. Mr. Kirk is unable to account for the increase, as August was not a particularly busy month, and no unusual sales were made of post-office merchandise, but it shows a steady growth in local business affairs, and speaks well for the growing prosperity of Upland.

LEAVES REAL MARK FOR THE GOLFERS TO SHOOT AT

AS A FAREWELL JOHN-STON SHOOT NINE HOLES IN 32

"Didn't Want These Golf Players Here to Forget Me Right Off and Believe It Will Take Them a Little While to Match That 32," Says Cy.

Cy Johnston, pro at Red Hill Country Club for several months, leaves this week for Los Serranos Club in the hills south of China, and there are a lot of folks around here who won't forget Cy, but Mr. Johnston wanted to make it certain there wouldn't be anyone, especially the golf players, forget him, so he went out the other day and played nine holes in 32 strokes.

Although Cy has left, he leaves his mark behind him and something for expert golfers to shoot at. Thirty-two is a real score on the Red Hill course, and the player who duplicates Johnston's last real game will have accomplished something worth while. The score was as follows: Holes 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 Total 3 5 4 2 5 3 4 3 3 32

CURB SIGNALING

Motorists who dash out suddenly from a parking space without looking or signaling, are among the worst menaces to ordinary traffic, in the opinion of engineers who have studied this situation from a national angle.

The danger of accidents is increased where oblique parking is the rule. As various styles of parking prevail throughout this section, the public safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California urges that every precaution be taken, as is indicated in the state law. This declares that the motorist not only must signal adequately, but be certain that other vehicles are not near enough to precipitate a crash.

Success is what failure calls luck.

Funeral of Pioneer

Funeral services for Nathan Eaton, whose death Sunday evening marked the passing of one of Ontario's earliest pioneers, were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Drapers chapel.

Mr. Eaton was 88 years of age at the time of his death and had made his home in Ontario for 37 years. Coming here from Massachusetts, Mr. Eaton engaged in the nursery business in the early days, but had been retired for a number of years. He was a prominent member of the First Methodist Church and an active anti-saloon worker.

Mr. Eaton is survived by his widow, E. W. Thayer of Upland, a nephew and Mrs. Abbie C. Elliott, formerly of Ontario, but now of Los Angeles, is a niece.

In the absence of Dr. Charles F. Seitter, the Rev. George W. Irwin officiated at the funeral yesterday. The remains were shipped east for interment at the old home town, Ashburnham, Mass.

Play Before Club

Members of the Kiwanis Club in weekly luncheon session Friday afternoon at Hotel Casa Blanca were entertained by a clever one-act play written and directed by William McConnell, popular member of the organization.

The play dealt with the effect of the Kiwanis Spirit on one, A. Couch. The author appeared in the role of Grouch and the scene was laid in his business office, where he was seen in the act of dictating a letter to his "pretty" stenographer, Thomas Logan, appropriately arrayed in feminine attire. In the letter to Henry Ford, Grouch declines to be associated with the motor car manufacturer in the pur-

Grouch, as his name would indicate, peevishly dismisses a number of callers soliciting for the Boy Scouts and city betterment moves. Finally, the disgruntled one is invited to attend a Kiwanis luncheon and reluctantly consents. Here there is an intermission while the regular program of the club is carried out.

The second act follows the program and it finds Mr. Grouch entirely changed. He proceeds to notify the Boy Scout representatives by telephone that he will donate $200 to the movement, raises the salary of his office boy and promises his stenographer a vacation.

Judge Benjamin F. Warner of the superior court bench was the principal speaker of the day's program and presented some thoughtful advice relative to the bringing up of boys and girls. In closing, the speaker sounded a warning against losing faith in the boys and girls of today.

A pleasing addition to the program were vocal solos by Miss Margaret Paxson, soprano who sang "My Thoughts Are You" and "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," accompanied on the piano by Miss Edythe Strickling.

Building Total

Twenty-seven permits issued during the month of August by City Building Inspector O. S. Roen represented an expenditure of $54,026. This makes the total for the year to date $508,339.

While the total for the month was not quite up to average, it exceeded the totals for May and June of the present year, which were $53,800 and $42,160, respectively. The total for August, 1923, was $89,935.

Of the 27 permits issued during the month just closed, 15 or more than half were for new dwellings, which is looked upon as an indication of the city's continued steady growth.

Recent weeks have strongly indicated a return to improved business conditions. Apartment house owners, who have had vacancies during the summer report their establishments filling up and many rental properties are being sought.

Local contractors express the opinion that September is to witness greatly increased building activity in the city. Among those planning extensive building operations are Dan Jones, well-known contractor, who is now busy with plans for a string of six attractive dwellings, which he expects to build in the very near future in the Thomas White subdivision.

A. R. Gemmel, prominent Ontario druggist, today let the contract to Harvey Tadlock for the erection of a particularly handsome dwelling at the southeast corner of Euclid avenue and Rosewood Court at a cost of $10,000.

Long Beach Steam-Electric Plant Built in Record Time

The time-honored, moss-covered adage that "Tis an ill wind that blows no good" has received a striking illustration in one of the greatest engineering feats of the West.

The writer refers to the new Edison Co. steam-electric plant at Long Beach. Had it not been for the power shortage a hundred and one records would not have been broken in the construction and equipment of this great plant and likewise the plant probably would not have been as efficient, neither would the Southland have had the benefit of its additional facilities until many months later than will be the case.

Its cost, its production possibilities and the amounts of materials used run into staggering figures. Suffice it to say that when it is completed the promise is made that the Southland need never fear another power shortage for with what it can produce combined with what the completion of the Huntington lake project will add there will be enough electrical energy to care for a shortage several hundred times greater than the one now being experienced.

Clyde Houston There

Several newspaper men chartered by the genial district agent, Clyde Houston, were among the large party taken on a tour of inspection of the great plant Friday. The tour proved one of absorbing interest. To one not initiated into the mysteries of electricity or big construction work the scenes presented were little less than amazing. Here were great steam turbines whirling mighty generators with deafening roar. Here were condensers, horizontal turbines, little motors, big motors, meters, tunnels and a thousand and one sights, and all this was in the old steam-plant.

Then came the visit to the addition now under construction. Here they were doing so many things at once that it made one dizzy to contemplate them all. Rising fully 100 feet in the air there is steadily creeping the steel and concrete walls of a wonderful building. At the same time there is being set into shape the monster machines which will turn out a total of 130,000 horsepower of electricity. Sounds small to tell it but it spells one of the wonders of the day in construction work.

To attempt a minute description of the countless items of interest which were pointed out would be impossible. Suffice it to say that the whole presents a picture of seething activity from the ground to the dizzy heights of the network of steel which is preceeding the concrete work. And in this activity there is a wonderful system wherein every man knows his place and his work so perfectly that when night comes each had added his bit in the right place and every piece of the puzzle fits perfectly.

And while all this is going on above ground it might be mentioned that there is plenty doing below ground also, for here great tunnels are being finished whereby a goodly portion of the Pacific Ocean will flow into the plant and then flow out again, incidentally pausing long enough to cool a few acres of condenser pipes on the way.

Incidentally it might be mentioned that $10,000,000 is being spent on the work underway. A thousand men are employed and 2046 carloads of material have been used to date. Two hundred and twenty-five of the men live at the company camp on the site. It took 400 draftsmen to make the plans. There are eight miles of switching tracks. There will be 2000 tons of steel in the new building and 7000 piles were driven for the foundation.

PRESENT TIME IS IDEAL FOR HOME CONSTRUCTION

It is probably a trite statement that the home building situation in Los Angeles and Southern California at the present time offers the prospective home owner a "golden opportunity." But the idea is so vital that it surely will bear repetition just once more.

From the standpoints of both markets and materials there is now a more favorable condition than at any previous time since the war. Then too, money is more plentiful, and, though the price of money may not be said to have been reduced, the conditions under which it may be obtained for building operations are certainly more liberal.

A number of large banks are advertising money for home building loans which is an indication that a new interest is being taken, financially speaking, in this form of investment.

Certainly, such loans offer all the security that one could ask for since in a rising real estate market such as this there is a constantly appreciating value.

The recent official report of a Los Angeles concern with nearly $7,000,000 worth of real estate, land and home contracts listed in its assets, showing that only $18,000, or less than six-tenths of 1 per cent, was delinquent on the monthly payment basis, may be taken to mean that buyers of land and homes realize the advantage of their investment and are making their positions secure against further increases by clearing off their own incumbrances.

From the standpoint of land prices there has, of course, been a noticeable recession in some instances, but everyone realizes that the present summer means more for the future success and security of Los Angeles than almost any other period in its history.

The quicker a return is made to a normal basis of home building operations just so much quicker will Los Angeles step up in its ratio of homes in comparison with rental properties and vacancies.

For the past four or five years there has been small hope of stepping up in such operations because of the disproportionate ratio between the cost of a home site and the cost of the house.

People will not build homes in great numbers when the cost of a lot runs from one-third to one-half the entire investment.

Of course, Los Angeles has been somewhat of an exception to such a rule, but there was an exceptionally active market with thousands of newcomers seeking a way out of the rent problem.

And yet even in our own active situation there came a time when the movement was retarded largely on account of the disproportion just mentioned.

The present summer also has seen a gradual reduction in both labor and material costs, ranging from 5 per cent to 15 per cent.

In fact, it is probably safe to say that a home may be erected now for at least 15 per cent less than it would have cost six or eight months ago.

In some lines of construction, also, there has been developed a new efficiency on the part of labor which naturally adds its own saving to the entire cost of the job. This has been notably true in the case of brick.

Competition has likewise entered into the situation in a rather lively fashion and this rebounds to the benefit of the buyer. In fact, from a merchandising standpoint, the summer has marked a change from a seller's market to a buyer's market.

It would seem, therefore, that the present opportunity for the home builder is not without a sound economic foundation. If he can take advantage of the present market he will find it offers him a real chance to effect a substantial saving in the possession of a place which he can call his own.

Because of the seasonal basis on which they have been placed, there is no certainty that rents will remain unduly low, if they may be considered low at this time.

The law of supply and demand naturally sends them up in the fall of the year and then the renter begins to feel that he can save money by building his own home.

HIGHWAYS CARRY A HEAVY TRAFFIC

Labor Day was quiet in Upland with the exception of its highways.

Foothill Boulevard, Nineteenth Street, Mountain Avenue and Euclid Avenue carried constant streams of traffic from early Saturday afternoon until the morning hours of Tuesday. San Antonio Canyon, Lytle Creek, Waterman Canyon to Arrowhead and Deep Creek to Big Bear, as well as Mill Creek out of Redlands, broke all records for traffic to and from mountain resorts over the three-day outing.

Count of attaches of the United States Forest Service, who register all motorists at the entrance to the San Antonio Canyon, in connection with a fire prevention campaign, was announced Tuesday that 1,015 automobiles entered the canyon Saturday and Sunday by actual count, and a large number drove up into the hills Monday, as well.

Camp Baldy and other popular resorts in the canyon all reported record crowds, all hotel and cabin accommodations having been reserved by the middle of the past week.

Despite the unusually heavy traffic on the mountain roads, no serious accidents to mar the pleasure of the holiday outing were reported.

Stoddard's Canyon, popular resort near the mouth of the San Antonio Canyon, was the scene of an unusually large gathering Monday, when members of the Ontario and Pomona Pioneer Associations assembled there for picnic lunch and all-day outing.

Under the direction of Thomas Housekeeper, camp manager, long tables were spread for the luncheon beneath the great shade trees of the resort. An informal program of speeches dealing chiefly with reminiscences of the early days, was a feature of the afternoon.

Win First Round

Residents and property owners of West C street and vicinity won the first round in their fight with the Ontario Y. M. C. A. last night when City Attorney E. H. Joffe held the "Y" "indoor" baseball grounds at Laurel avenue and C street to be a public nuisance under the law. The city attorney gave it as his opinion that the nuisance might be abated either by civil or criminal action, but suggested that a more amicable settlement of the difficulty might be reached if the Y. M. C. A. were admonished by the City Council to move the ball grounds to another locality.

Petitioners, who were represented in person before the Council by Mrs. Ella Brown and F. A. Munsell, asserted that as a result of the hideous noises made by rooters at the frequent night ball games and because of the unsightly wooden bleachers erected in the residential district, they were unable to keep tenants in their apartment houses and that property values in the neighborhood had deteriorated generally.

The petition further alleged that the noise, which was compared to that of "wild beasts in deadly combat," was proving a serious detriment to the health and well-being of invalids and aged persons for blocks around. It was urged that the nuisance be abated at once.

The petition, after discussion, was referred to the police commission for investigation and later report.

Bar Heavy Traffic

City Service Manager O. S. Roen reported the macadam paving of a number of city streets under private contract, the work being done under city supervision after the property owners have deposited the necessary funds with the street department. In this connection, Manager Roen recommended the adoption of an ordinance barring heavy traffic from certain streets on which a light form of paving is used. This was referred to the street committee for consideration.

The council adopted the map of a district for the paving of Bon View avenue between Ontario boulevard and Ely street with oil macadam, as petitioned for by more than 50 per cent of the property owners. A petition from residents of East J street seeking the installation of street lights at the intersections of Columbia and Sultana avenues, was referred to the light committee of the council to report later.

Given Ninety Days

Although he denied having been here on the date specified Rafael Pacheco was yesterday found guilty in Judge George R. Holbrook's court of acting as an accomplice to his wife, Adele Pacheco, in shoplifting operations here March 4, last. He drew a sentence of 90 days in jail and took the jail sentence.

Mrs. Pacheco some time ago pleaded guilty to the theft of some $80 worth of goods from a store conducted by Mrs. J. E. Moore, 132 North Euclid avenue. Mrs. Moore yesterday identified Pacheco as the man who engaged her in conversation while the woman committed the theft.

The pair escaped at the time in a motor car, but were later arrested in Pomona on a similar charge. Pacheco was recently turned over to the local authorities at the completion of a jail sentence he served in Los Angeles county.

New Dwellings Assured

Erection of 14 new dwellings in Ontario during the present month was assured yesterday afternoon when directors of the People's Mutual Building and Loan Association, in monthly session at their offices 235 North Euclid avenue, approved loans in the amount of $18,100 for that number of houses.

The report of Secretary J. O. Henderson showed more than $38,000 paid out during the month of August on loans previously approved.

Receipts for the month just closed totalled $71,026.37 with a balance on hand Sept. 1 of $31,142.50. A total of $21,472.84 was received in dues during the past month and receipts from paid stock amounted to $39,425, according to Secretary Henderson's report.

ALLEN MOSER IS HONORED GUEST

Allen Moser, youngest son of Councilman and Mrs. L. E. Moser, was the guest of honor of the Upland Rotary Club Tuesday at noon, the occasion being the first that Allen has been able to leave his home since waging a many months fight to regain his health.

As a result of an infected knee Allen has had a rather strenuous time and Dr. Weber presented him to the club as a boy who was able to attend the Rotary luncheon because of a game fight with the odds against him for several months. As Allen is interested in mechanical drawing Dr. Weber and Frank Van Natta of the club's welfare committee presented him with a case of instruments and table for his work.

President Hill welcomed the guest of honor to the luncheon and assured him that every member of the club wished him success in regaining good health and in his chosen work and pledged the assistance of every member of the club.

Harry Harlow gave the craft talk of the day and told of earlier days when as a state trooper he lived in most of the towns of Southern California. From selling signs to driving a furniture delivery cart, to selling automobiles and real estate he finally became a messenger boy in the offices of the California Fruit Growers Exchange. He gradually worked up to a better job and when the O. K. Exchange here needed a manager he was sent to fill the job.

John D. Howe gave a brief talk on "Defense Day." Mr. Howe stated that few people understood the purpose of the day and likened the day to a survey of strength here to fight the forest fires which come with every dry season.

"No one likes a forest fire," said Mr. Howe, "but we must be prepared when an emergency arises. No one likes war, and most of us don't like this pacificism that grips a lot of people, and we need this defense day to arouse our patriotism and not only see what our strength is to protect ourselves against foreign foes, but foes within our own country."

Dr. R. C. Stone told of his trip over the Columbia Highway and how the route was originally laid out by an engineer who for many months was a helpless cripple, but who through sheer determination regained his strength and engineered the entire project.

Dr. Stone described a portion of his return trip over the route from Grant's Pass to Eureka of the Redwood highway in a most graphic manner. All the motorists persuaded him to avoid it, but with his son driver they negotiated the distance without mishap and enjoyed the trip very much.

BEAR AND MAN IN BOXING BOUT

Many readers probably remember the little bear that Kirk Vernon brought home with him from a trip to the north several months ago and they probably remember him as he appeared for a day or two in the window of Creighton's sporting goods store when it was located opposite The News office.

That little bear is now much bigger and is in a cage at Camp Baldy. Among the bear's friends at Camp Baldy is "Bill" Vernon, son of T. K., and the bear enjoys a boxing match with his friend, so on Saturday after King Tut's Carriage completes its last jaunt into the mountains, Bill and the bear are going to stage a four round boxing match.

Whether a physician will be necessary to examine the hearts of the participants according to state law has not been announced, but all the rules and regulations of a boxing match are to be observed and if the bear doesn't lose his nerve it's going to be some match.

Some whales travel twice a year more than a quarter of the distance around the world. They will be in the Arctic regions in the summer and on the other side of the equator in the winter.

HELD TO ANSWER SUPERIOR COURT

Albert D. ("Red") Wellborn, age 24, a barber, was last night held to answer to the superior court following his preliminary examination in Judge George R. Holbrook's court, Ontario, on charges of rape and contributing to the delinquency of Peggy Colborn, 14-year-old Ontario girl, on the night of July 7. Wellborn was held on both counts and his bail raised from $1500 to $3000.

Miss Colborn on the witness stand, recited in full the nauseating details of an alleged criminal assault upon herself by Cecil Gilliat, now under arrest on a rape charge, while Wellborn prevented Bonnie Barnes, a girl companion, from coming to her assistance, and how, following Gilliat's assault, Wellborn attempted to accomplish the same thing, while Gilliat held Miss Barnes. The girl told how she and Miss Barnes had joined Wellborn and Gilliat following a dance at an Upland dance hall, with the understanding that the men were to take them to the home of Miss Colborn's mother, Mrs. Marjorie Colborn, 203 East H Street.

Instead of taking them home, according to the Colborn girl, the men drove them toward Cucamonga, where they met another party of youths and secured something to drink. The girls, she said, refused to drink. Taking turns at the steering wheel, according to Miss Colborn's testimony, the men drove them then to a lonely spot in the Cucamonga district, despite their entreaties that they be taken home.

Miss Colborn recited how Miss Barnes finally turned off the engine of the motor car and threw the key away. The girls then broke away and started to run, according to testimony, but were overtaken and Miss Colborn dragged back to the car.

The Colborn girl testified that she screamed for help and told Gilliat that she would rather be killed than submit to him. She recited that she fought the man with all her might, but to no purpose. Although in a weakened condition after the alleged attack of Gilliat, the girl told how she was finally able to free herself from the embrace of Wellborn, whom she declared drunk.

Miss Barnes, who is the complaining witness in the case against Wellborn, substantiated the testimony of Miss Colborn, telling how she was prevented from going to the other's assistance first by Wellborn and then by Gilliat. Miss Barnes is 16 years of age.

The girls were accompanied to court by Shepherd Mitchell, a Los Angeles attorney and uncle of Miss Colborn, and by Mrs. John Oldham, Deputy District Attorney C. O. Thompson prosecuted and Attorney A. O. Dillon appeared for the defendant.

Attempts of Wellborn to waive preliminary examination and carry the case directly to the superior court without the local hearing were set at naught when Deputy District Attorney Thompson refused to comply with the request.

Gilliat, who was arrested some time before Wellborn on complaint of W. B. Hollingsworth, reputed official of a local secret society, is reported still at liberty on $1500 bail, following his arraignment before Judge Al U'Ren at Colton.

FIRST AND LAST MEAL SERVED IN SEWER ENJOYED

LOS ANGELES MEN GUESTS OF SEWER CONTRACTORS

First Affair of Its Kind to Be Given in the United States. Food for Luncheon Prepared in Specially Built Kitchen.

Eating a full course dinner and enjoying a musical program and motion picture entertainment in a sewer twenty-five feet beneath the surface of the earth was the unique experience of 300 public officials and prominent western engineers last Saturday in Los Angeles.

The affair which, it is claimed, was the first of its kind to be given in the United States, commemorated completion of section eight of the immense new metropolitan outfall sewer for the city of Los Angeles. This was built by the Atkinson-Spicer company, engineering firm affiliated with the Associated General Contractors of America, which sponsored the novel function. Tables for the guests were erected upon a special platform built on the floor of the sewer piping and covered a distance of more than 1000 feet. Each table was covered with a linen cloth and decorated with a large bouquet of roses. The food for the luncheon was prepared in a special kitchen built temporarily inside the sewer, which had also been expressly wired for the occasion.

As the guests arrived they descended a stairway leading down to the top of the great pipe sections, which had not yet been covered with earth, and from this point they entered the sewer down another shorter flight of steps. Motion pictures of the arrival of the guests were taken, rushed to a nearby studio and developed and later in the afternoon shown on a screen erected inside the sewer.

Immediately after the luncheon Lynn S. Atkinson, Jr., of the firm of Atkinson-Spicer company, which built section eight of the sewer, acting as toastmaster, introduced a number of Los Angeles city and state officials who praised the work of the construction firm in completing the project in record breaking time. Motion pictures of the entire sewer construction work were then exhibited.

WANT DEPARTMENT FOR TECHNICAL RESEARCH WORK

POULTRYMEN DESIRE AID IN ADVANCING THEIR INDUSTRY

California's Tremendous Flocks Now Supporting the Egg Markets of the United States. State Aid Deemed Necessary

California poultrymen within the next few weeks will circulate petitions requesting the state legislature when it convenes again to set aside an appropriation of $150,000 for a new building, and the creation of a department for technical research on poultry problems at the University of California.

Declaring that the $50,000,000 poultry industry of the state must have support, the poultrymen, numbering more than 10,000, are determined to see that valuable work of Prof. William A. Lippincott at the University of California carried to a larger scale, which will enable the amount of research work they feel is needed begun at once.

With their tremendous flocks now supporting the egg markets of the United States the poultrymen are vitally interested in having problems affecting breeding, nutrition and poultry diseases analyzed by the best available experts just as soon as possible.

Carrying their battle to the state house, the poultrymen have named Ed. J. Hauser, superintendent of the Fontana poultry plant, and recognized as one of the leading authorities on poultry in the country, chairman of their committee. Under Mr. Hauser every poultryman in the state will begin circulating petitions this week. The campaign has been named "The Progressive Poultry Drive," and when the legislature convenes Prof. Hauser will represent the poultrymen before that body.

"The poultrymen are asking for a comparatively small sum," Mr. Hauser said, "but the good that can come from the research work on poultry problems at the University of California will add thousands of dollars every year to the $50,000,000 poultry industry of this state, will create a stronger confidence nationally in California poultry products and will create better quality and increased production."

The petition follows: The poultry industry of the state of California has an estimated value in excess of $50,000,000. In order to further this progressive and specialized industry much reliable investigation work must be done. It is natural to look to the County Farm Advisors, the Department of Poultry Husbandry and the Agricultural Extension Division of the University of California for this information.

The equipment and buildings at Davis are inadequate for much research and experimental work. Also more money is needed to further the work of Dr. Wm. Lippincott, Prof. J. E. Dougherty and others in the department.

Therefore, we, the Progressive Poultrymen of California, ask the Hon. Governor of California, the Agricultural Legislative Committee, and the State Legislature for the sum of $150,000.00 to be placed at the disposal of the Regents of the University of California to be used by the Department of Poultry Husbandry under the guidance of Dean Hutchinson and Dr. Lippincott.
